

Feedback: Writing a Report

|                                                                                                              | 😊 | 😐 | 😞 | Feedback |
|--------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------------|---|---|---|----------|
| The title is relevant to the topic of the report.                                                            |   |   |   |          |
| There is a brief introduction on what the report is about.                                                   |   |   |   |          |
| The main part contains 3-4 main elements relating to the topic.                                              |   |   |   |          |
| The text answers the W questions: What, who, when (→ introduction)                                           |   |   |   |          |
| The text follows the ABC rules (workbook p. 58)                                                              |   |   |   |          |
| The content is clearly presented in such a way that a reader is well informed about the original discussion. |   |   |   |          |
| The report is written in neutral language and in a fitting register.                                         |   |   |   |          |
| The text is written in own words, not copied.                                                                |   |   |   |          |
| Quotations are clearly labelled as such.                                                                     |   |   |   |          |
| The text is clearly structured and easy to follow.                                                           |   |   |   |          |
| There is a clear visual structure (paragraph, free lines).                                                   |   |   |   |          |
| The text has a good length: All important points are made, but the text stays concise.                       |   |   |   |          |
| The text contains a good selection of connectives.                                                           |   |   |   |          |
| The text is coherent / the connections make sense.                                                           |   |   |   |          |

Language Feedback – what to watch out for

---

---

---

---

---

---